

Crystal Ball Software and Risk Analysis Tips

(#37) Beginner Tips: Short List of Tips for Beginners

* If you lose your forecast windows or other charts, they are probably just behind Excel. To bring them to the front, click on the Crystal Ball icon in the taskbar at the bottom of your Windows screen. (Alternatively, you can press Alt - Tab until the Crystal Ball icon is selected.)

* When running a simulation, Crystal Ball runs a simulation on all open workbooks with Crystal Ball data. You should close down extra Crystal Ball models before running a simulation if you want to increase the simulation speed.

* To automatically count all your assumptions, decision variables, or forecasts, click on either the Select Assumptions, Select Decisions, or Select Forecasts icon. The number selected appears in the status bar in the bottom left Excel's main window. This works for the worksheet you have open.
